

Women in Tax - Purposeful Pursuits Adelaide

1 CPD hour

Why meaningful work is so important to us

The pandemic is prompting serious self-reflection as people contemplate the quality and meaning of their jobs and lives.

The last 18 months have changed the way businesses and individuals interact with each other across industries and in personal relationships. It has also changed the way clients, employers and policymakers view tax practitioners, shining a light on the dedication and skill of our community and how critical the tax environment is to the way society operates. For many within the tax profession it has meant a change in perspective, as they reimagined their responsibilities, role in our community and career journey.

At this networking breakfast, learn about the importance of experiencing work as positive, purposeful, and significant. Hear how a panel of experienced and inspiring professionals have responded to recent challenges and look forward with a focus on purpose. Discussion points include:

- How the pandemic has caused society to reflect and what that means for each of us and our team
- How challenges have helped us clarify our purpose and what it means to be a tax advisor
- The opportunities, insights and inspirations creating clarity during trying times
- The importance of “mattering” and how to make work more meaningful (an essential leadership skill)
- How do we transform purpose into real-world impact for our staff, ourselves and our clients.

Panellists:

- Matt Fabri, Managing Director, OpSys
- Anetta Johnston, CTA, Partner, KPMG
- Gail Murphy-Nakkash, CEO, Pitcher Partners

Facilitator:

Kristen Raison, Managing Director, Symmetri

At The Tax Institute, the health and wellbeing of our members, delegates and employees is our top priority. Whilst returning to face-to-face events, we continue to actively monitor the situation regarding COVID-19 and follow the latest advice and guidelines issued by the Department of Health, the World Health Organisation and relevant State authorities.

Please note, final implementation of any of these measures is subject to Federal and State Government requirements at the time of each event. To see The Tax Institute's full COVID-19 Event Guidelines, click here.

Presenter profiles

Matt Fabri

Matt is the Founder and Director of OpSys Australia. A certified Microsoft Engineer, he has nearly 20 years of experience in the IT industry. Matt founded OpSys in 2016 and has grown the company to 16 employees with offices in Australia, New Zealand, and Singapore. Despite the company's reputation as a global leader, Matt remains passionate about running his operations out of South Australia and growing the state's status as a leader in cybersecurity innovation.

Anetta Johnston

Anetta is the Partner at KPMG. As a tax specialist in KPMG's Enterprise division, Anetta works with a broad range of mid-market clients within financial services, insurance, funds management, property and infrastructure and family office groups. Anetta is passionate about solving tax issues for her clients by understanding their commercial objectives and strategic goals. In doing this she enjoys seeing her clients gain a knowledge of the tax law they can apply to their business. In her day to day work she manages the tax aspects of M&A transactions, tax due diligence and structuring and restructuring corporate groups to obtain optimal tax outcomes. She also provides advice on tax governance matters and is involved in the management of ATO reviews for companies that fall under the Top 1000 and Top 500 private groups program. Anetta started her professional career with KPMG in 2000 as a graduate. She has worked in Adelaide, Melbourne and Sydney, and spent several years working as a tax lawyer specialising in tax controversy matters. In July 2018, she was appointed as a Partner.

Gail Murphy-Nakkash

Gail is the recently appointed CEO of Pitcher Partners' South Australian firm. Prior to her new role, Gail held the position of General Manager Global Business Services with global tech company, Konica Minolta, where she was based in Sydney. Gail has extensive experience across multiple sectors including technology, managed services, manufacturing, advertising and professional services.

Through an authentic and hands-on leadership approach, leveraging collaboration and stakeholder engagement, she has helped organisations define and execute strategies for revenue growth and continuous improvement throughout her career. Often operating in highly matrixed, channel and partner environments, and managing multi-national teams, she is mindful of connecting people to the 'bigger picture' as a key driver of performance.

Kristen Raison

Kristen is the Managing Director of Symmetri. Kristen has over 25 years' experience operating at Executive levels in the Financial Services industry, ranging from Executive Management, Leadership and Sales to National lead of People Culture and Change Management.

She is well known for her honest and authentic approach in delivering positive outcomes for her clients by providing a supportive, and trusted environment to learn and grow. Well-being and resilience play a significant part in her consultancy, and she believes without healthy minds; individuals, teams and businesses will struggle to thrive and reach their full potential.
